The bubble show

Blowing bubbles takes on a whole new meaning after watching the Bubble Show, currently running at Deira City Centre.

Bubblemaster Fan Yang introduced the audience to the science of bubble blowing when he blew bubbles inside bubbles, bubbles filled with smoke inside even larger bubbles and huge bubbles filled with tiny smoke-filled bubbles illuminated with light.

Perhaps the most stunning feat was the creation of a bubble so huge that Fan Yang could actually step inside it.

"I have been doing this show for 20 years now," says Fan Yang. "This is my first time in the Middle East and the audiences have been wonderful."

A Canadian citizen, Fan Yang's fascination with bubbles began while studying in Germany and Switzerland. Originally a scientist, part of his studies involved experiments with water and as a hobby he started producing effects with bubbles. Eventually, the hobby became a show in itself and Fan Yang found himself in demand all over the world.

"I started performances in Canada and the USA and then all over Europe," said Fan Yang. "The art developed substantially with the start of the Bubble Festival in Seattle at the Science Centre, followed by more festivals in Toronto and Singapore. I appear at all these events and give demonstrations of my skills and workshops."

Fan Yang is also the holder of seven world records for bubbles, the most famous of which is the largest number of bubbles within one bubble- currently eleven. He performed this live on television in London last November and was adjudicated by members of the committee for Guinness World Records.

"I regularly do TV appearances, mostly in the USA," says Fan Yang. "I have done shows on the David Letterman Show and Jerry Springer Show, as well as a short film about the art on the Learning Channel."

Children, and maybe a few adults, can also try their hand at the art of blowing amazing bubbles by purchasing a small bubble kit on sale at the show, which has been specially created by Fan Yang. It includes frames and bubble liquid to allow one to try out a whole host of different effects.

Fan Yang performs four shows each evening at Deira City Centre on the main stage. Shows start at 5pm with the last performance beginning at 8.45pm. Each show lasts approximately 20 minutes.

The Bubble Show forms part of the extensive line-up of entertainment conceived and arranged to run throughout Dubai Summer Surprises and ends on August 30.
